MANAGEMENT
A BALANCING ACT

Managing across functions is a balancing act. Made more challenging in today’s new economy, by complex market dynamics and fast-paced competition. Businesses which accomplish a strategic direction, in sync with their inherent functional strengths, respond to the market turbulence better and quicker. Businesses which can respond to the market dynamics and economic swings, are a step ahead of the competition.

To drive performance in this fast paced yet uncertain environment, general managers in the organizations need an innovative mindset to appreciate the interlinkages between all organizational functions.

The Management Development Program (MDP) is our flagship program developed for functional managers, business unit heads and other professionals who are planning successful career transitions from functional to general management levels. The two week immersive program allows participants to expand their knowledge base across all functional areas and develop a holistic management perspective. By integrating key functional disciplines, participants develop the capability to envision, influence, control and implement strategic direction of the firm.

Residing together at LUMS, participants immerse themselves in a two week learning experience that has been designed to be rigorous, real in context and transformational.
“MDP is very well thought-out program specifically designed to cater all functions of an organization with special focus on leadership, empathy and business innovation. Real-time cases, simulations and practical exercises amply cover the key concepts and business mechanics to exhibit the impact of your decision on business. It provides an excellent opportunity to sharpen your skills and enhance business acumen.”

PROGRAM
OBJECTIVES

General managers are typically at the helm of organizational control and performance and often find themselves in situations where they have to make complex management decisions across key functions.

The Management Development Program (MDP) at LUMS enables participants to integrate key functional areas in an organization and drive a result-focused business strategy. The objective of MDP is to create successful general managers who can leverage their own and their organizations’ inherent strengths in order to create breakthrough performances and optimize end results.

During the program, the participants;

- Acquire conceptual skills to understand business functions and their inter-linkages
- Develop the ability to rethink business functions and lead change at different levels of an organization
- Understand how industry structures work and evaluate how to create value and profit for their operating unit in a competitive environment
- Develop key value drivers for their business performance to achieve long-term growth and sustenance
- Learn international best practices as to how organizations respond to recession and cyclicality
- Understand and harness their leadership capability to lead the organization effectively
- Gain from networking opportunities with like-minded people from diverse backgrounds and industry experiences
WHO SHOULD ATTEND

The program is designed for high potential senior executives who have either taken on or are preparing to transit from functional to a broader general management position.

Senior executives require a different skillset to manage wider responsibilities and more complex management challenges. MDP provides an excellent opportunity to develop individuals who in their current or prospective roles are required to manage multiple functional areas in an integrated manner and drive organizational growth both internally and externally.

A typical participant profile includes:

- Country Managers
- Directors
- Controllers
- Vice Presidents
- CFOs
- Senior Managers
- Divisional Heads

PROGRAM CURRICULUM

MDP curriculum has been designed to impart learning which reinforces functional knowledge and bridges the core management areas of marketing, finance, operations, technology, leadership and team management, with a view to create functional synergies. The curriculum has been mapped into two modules.

Module 1 has been designed to cover the broad functional areas in order to enhance the general management skills and expose participants to areas of management in which they may have limited knowledge and/or activities.

Module 2 focuses on the abilities of the participants to view the organization from a strategic perspective and in the process sharpen their leadership, interpersonal and negotiation skills. This would increase their impact as leaders and change agents.

Based on the core pedagogy of case-based teaching, the program’s curriculum encompasses the latest development in management theory and practice.

This includes a repository of local, regional and international case studies that deepens the perspectives from various geographical dimensions. Computer simulations, interactive lectures, exercises and role plays augment case studies to ensure that the learning is delivered and received in a practical context.

Highlight of the Week - Active Learning and Skills Sessions

State-of-the-art business simulation to integrate functional and strategic skills to improve bottom-line and help participants apply their learning during the program.

Enhancement of management perspectives through guest speakers, reflection and review sessions.
A TYPICAL DAY

Each day of the MDP is specifically designed to provide value through unique learning opportunities. The program opens with a formal dinner an evening earlier and an introductory session by the Program Director. A typical day at MDP involves rigorous in-class & outdoor learning and interactive activities:

Wellness & Sports
Begin the day with a brisk morning walk, jog around the track, yoga with fitness trainer or gym workout at the campus sports center. Later join peers and faculty for a nutritious morning breakfast.

Class Session I Opening Session
Build the learning context for the 1st half of the day’s session

Morning Tea Break
Engage with participants and faculty in the lounge/foyer over a cup of refreshing tea/coffee

Individual Preparation & Group Discussion
Explore the depth and breadth of management and real life business situations by collaborating with fellow executives

Class Session II
In-depth analysis of a real world situation. Build perspective and core business acumen through a case study run by LUMS expert faculty

LEARN & UNWIND
Lunch Break
Gather and relax over lunch, interact with peers and faculty both in and out of the classroom

Recreational Reflection Activity
Post lunch, participate in the “Class Wellness & Physical Training” for quick and effective rejuvenation

Class Session III
Experiential learning, exercises, group work and interactive lectures

Afternoon Tea Break
Network and interact on discussion points over tea/coffee in the foyer

Class Session IV
Gain valuable insights through cases and lectures enriched by faculty’s experiences from their extensive industry research and practical consulting experience

Actionable Learning
Alternate between unique perspectives brought in by guest speakers, or apply learning in group projects, or participate in optional evening sports activities. Once a week, get the chance to share reflection through review sessions

Dinner
Gather at the end of day for more informal and relaxed interaction with participants and faculty

MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM
“Overall the designing of this 12-day MDP and its implementation is just excellent. The case studies, exercises and simulations along with group work/activities opens the mind and provokes a totally new thought process, which enhances the ability to see things from a different perspective altogether.”

LEARNING AT REDC

A Novel Gathering of Accomplished Executives
Established in 1995, The Management Development Program (MDP) has hosted accomplished senior executives and entrepreneurs from leading business groups, multinational and public sector organizations. During its history of the last twenty years, MDP has been recognized for its transformational effect.

Being a residential program, the participants have the unique opportunity to share views, network and bond with each other and interact extensively with LUMS faculty. Executives with diverse backgrounds, cultures and corporate values exchange insights and broaden their management perspectives. MDP is a once in a lifetime opportunity in a participant's career and those who have experienced it become a part of the elite MDP alumni network.

The case method of teaching is a special strength of LUMS
The university is at the forefront in developing and using cases in its various programs. Cases describe actual business situations and bring into the classroom problems and opportunities faced by practicing managers. The participants analyze problems, evaluate alternatives and recommend appropriate solutions which help enhance decision-making abilities and problem-solving skills.

To enrich the learning process, REDC faculty shares its experience and knowledge culled from the latest academic literature and research, as well as insights gained from working with companies as researchers, consultants and board members. The extensive experience of the faculty in planning and conducting executive programs ensures an interactive and stimulating classroom experience for you.

Grounded in Reality
The senior faculty of LUMS incorporates the latest research and business concepts into the classroom teaching through case studies, lectures, video/computer simulations, and small group activities. We offer an interactive, actionable learning experience for you to develop personal and professional strengths and lead your organization into an increasingly competitive environment.

Peer group learning is an integral part of the learning process
The dynamic exchange of knowledge and experience among successful individuals from different organizations and functions enhances learning. Valuable ideas and insights are shared with fellow participants and faculty in and out of the classroom. Group study provides a forum where you benefit from the diversity of views, perspectives and abilities of other team members.
